dedication

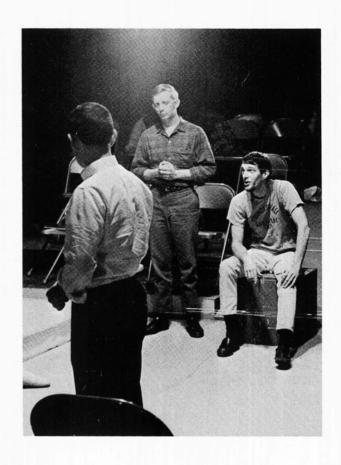

Students of Professor Bartlett often wonder what all the shouting is about when the theme of "strivingfor excellence" is heralded as an innovation. Excellence has been the goal, and often the product, of her teaching and directing, and it is reflected in the quality of theatre at Ohio Northern.

Working with inadequate facilities and little encouragement, Miss Bartlett and her students have provided at least one major theatre production per quarter for the campus community plus frequent experimental presentations and, most recently, weekly dramatic programs.

In recognition of her brilliant and tireless contributions to Ohio Northern University, we proudly dedicate the 1966 Northern to Professor Betty J. Bartlett.

NORTHERN 1907

Ohio Northern University's greatest scholar and teacher, Dr. Wilfred E. Binkley, died of a heart attack December 9,1965, while monitoring a final examination in Dukes Building.

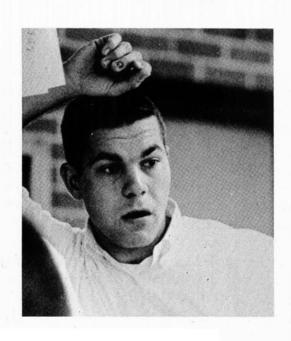

The eighty-two-year-old scholar spent most of his life in the class-room. After graduating from Ohio Northern in 1908, Dr. Binkley taught in the Allen County public school system until joining the university faculty in 1920. With leaves of absence, Dr. Binkley also taught at Ohio State; Bowling Green; Teachers College, Columbia University; and assisted in establishing Biarritz American University in France under the auspices of the United States Army.

Among the many honors awarded to Dr. Binkley were listings in Who's Who in America and Who's Who in American Education and the first Fulbright Lectureship to Oxford University, England, in 1949.

Books published by Dr. Binkley include Problems and Exercises in American Government, Powers of the President, The Man in the White House, The President and Congress, American Political Parties: Their Natural History, The Presidency, and Grammar of American Politics.

Dr. Binkley served as a member of the Ada Municipal court for 14 years, 1936-1949, and was elected to a term as mayor of Ada in 1952.

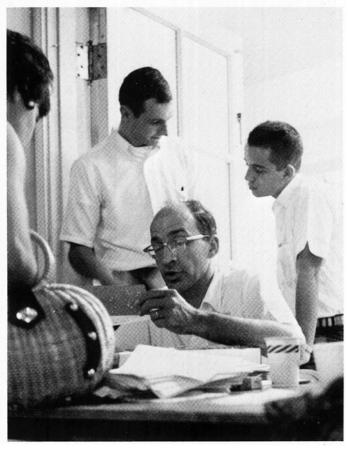

From contrasting backgrounds students converge on Ohio Northern's campus each September. Entering for the first time, freshmen are initiated into dorm life by the tedious process of moving in. Some are bewildered; others, confident. They bring suitcases and hairdryers, ideas and enthusiasm, the hopes of their parents and their own ambitious dreams.

Af ter parents have left and everything is unpacked, the freshman's first apprehension disappears. He sees his campus—both its old and new buildings. Patiently he weathers registration and bookstore lines. He hears students talk and laugh among themselves. Before long someone smiles and greets him, and he becomes part of the campus.

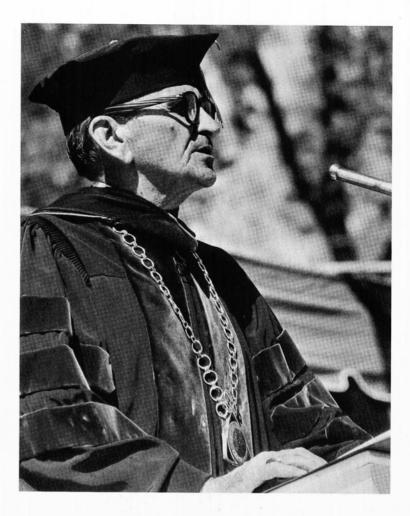

The new student begins to discover the personality of Ohio Northern. With beanie, sign, and "NorthernLight," freshmen set out to conquer frosh traditions. Violators caught not cooperating have their day in kangaroo court, where they swear to tell the truth "inthe name of Henry Solomon Lehr." The guilty are punished with wearing signs or scrubbing cannons.

Crowded into Taft Gym for convocation, the student body welcomes Dr. Meyer.
Upperclassmen remember the preceding spring when, in a similar assembly, they said farewell to retiring President F. Bringle McIntosh.

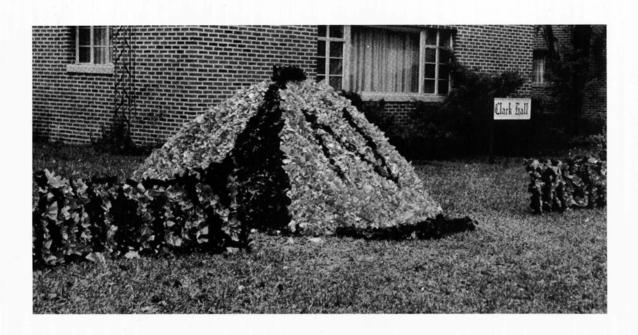

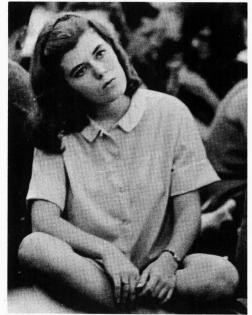

Whowill be queen? Maxine Overla, Delta Zeta, is chosen to reign over Homecoming, 1965.

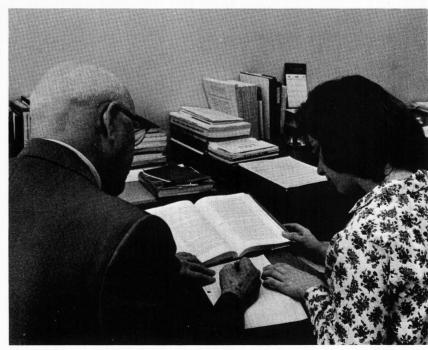

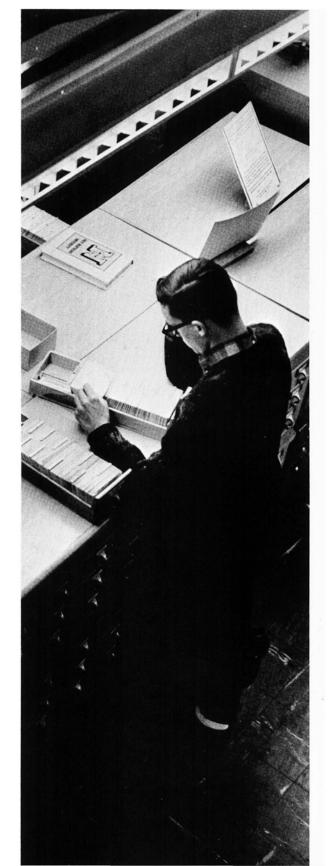

Fraternity and dorm decorations, the band selling mums, a special halftime ceremony, and two o'clock curfews are highlights of a colorful weekend. The climax comes on Sunday with the George Shearing Quintet in concert at McIntosh Center.

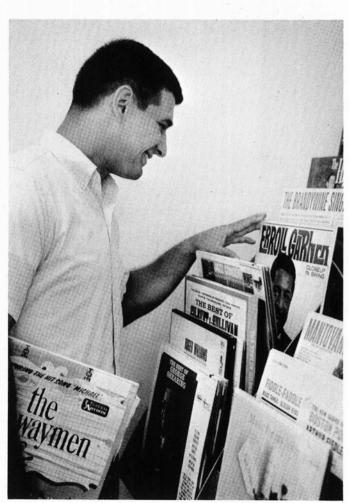

As professors offer greater challenges and classes demand increasing preparation, the student must spend a larger portion of his time studying.

Relaxation is a necessary balance for the daily scholastic routine. At Northern it is playing pool, listening to an album, or enjoying a milkshake with friends.

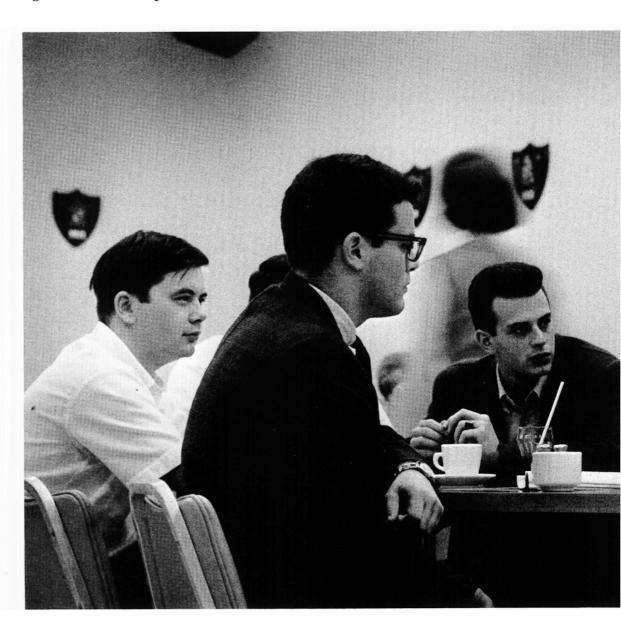

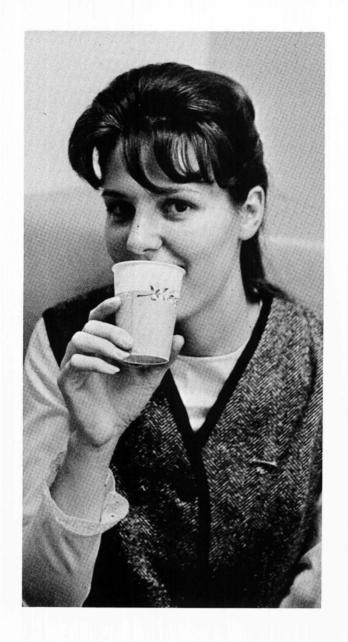

Dr. Meyer can often be seen on campus, familiarizing himself with different facets of the university. In the snackshop talking with students or in the conference room working with trustees, he looks ahead to higher achievements for ONU.

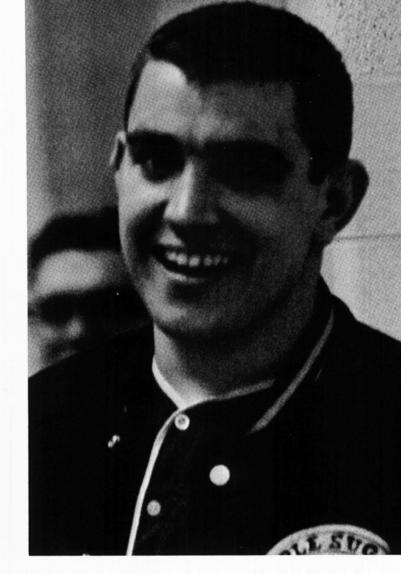

At ONU, one fall weekend is reserved for visiting families. Participating in informal discussion, a rummage sale, football game and banquet, parents become better acquainted with Northern's campus. They take home not only wilted mums but also a better understanding of what ONU offers to its students.

Without day by day association, it is impossible for anyone, even parents, to understand students' emotional and intellectual problems. There are moments of creative joy and unavoidable frustration, moments of quiet solitude and unimaginable boredom.

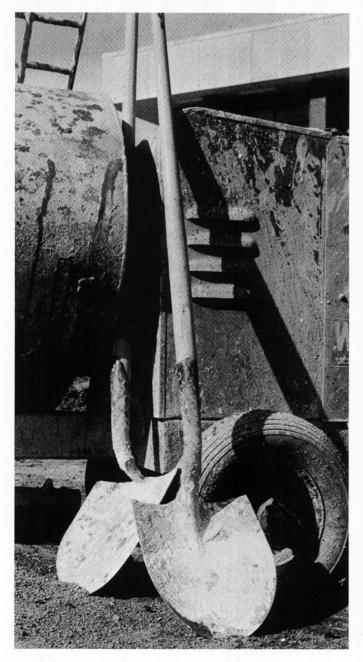

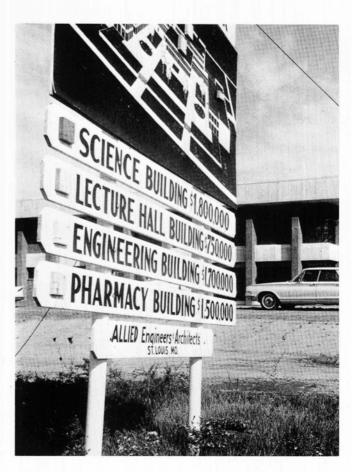

Expansion is the word providing the most contrast on campus. Everyone is building something. The new pharmacy building is the first portion of the science complex to be completed. Classrooms in this building are the first on the new west campus.

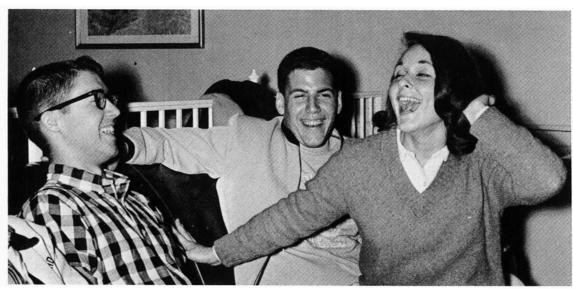

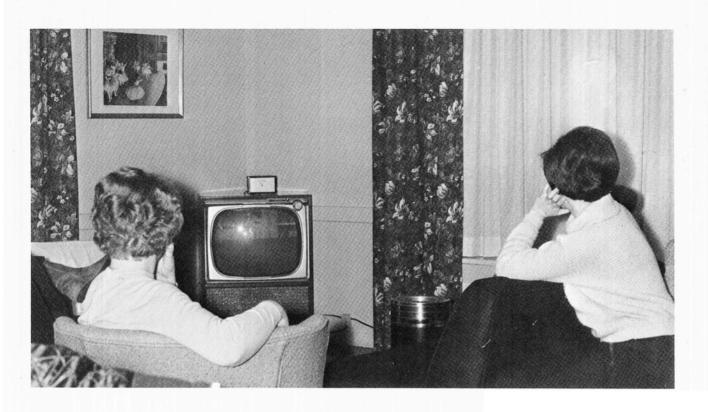

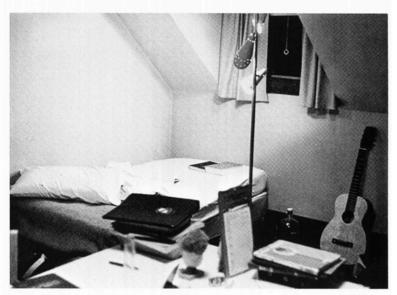

Dorm life cannot be described. To understand it, you must experience it. In spite of inconveniences, it is yours to live with from one quarter to the next. You sleep, study, eat, relax, learn the cracks in the wall, the holes in the ceiling, and the number of steps on the stairs as it eventually becomes home.

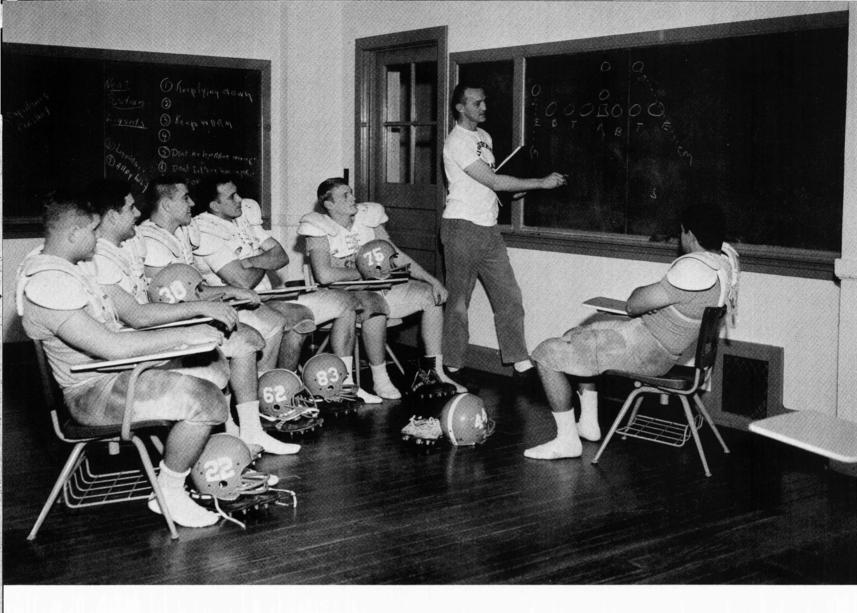

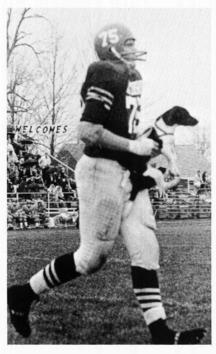

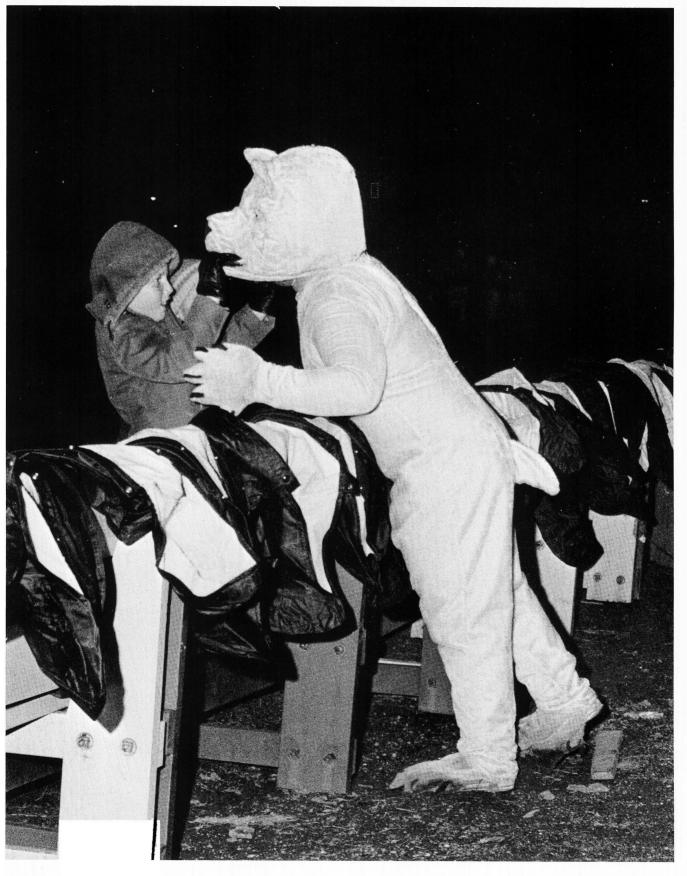

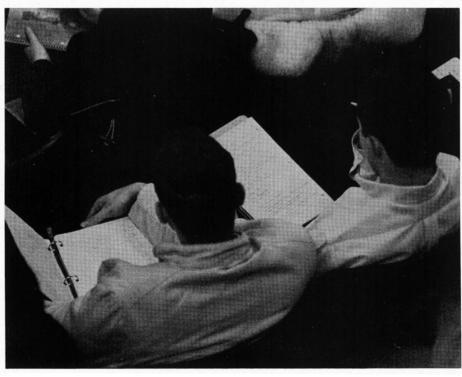

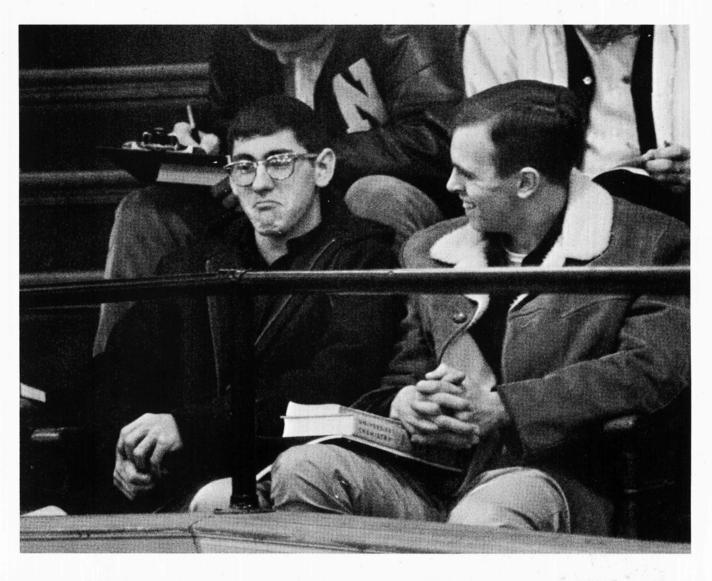

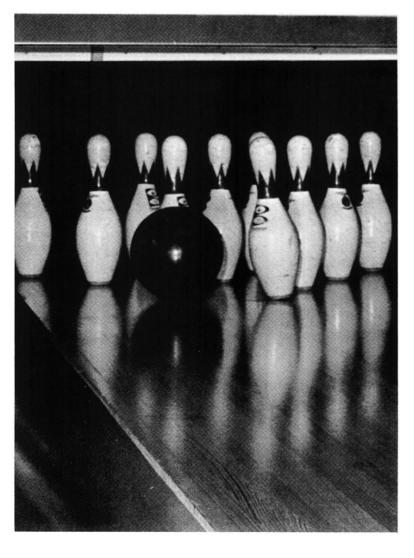

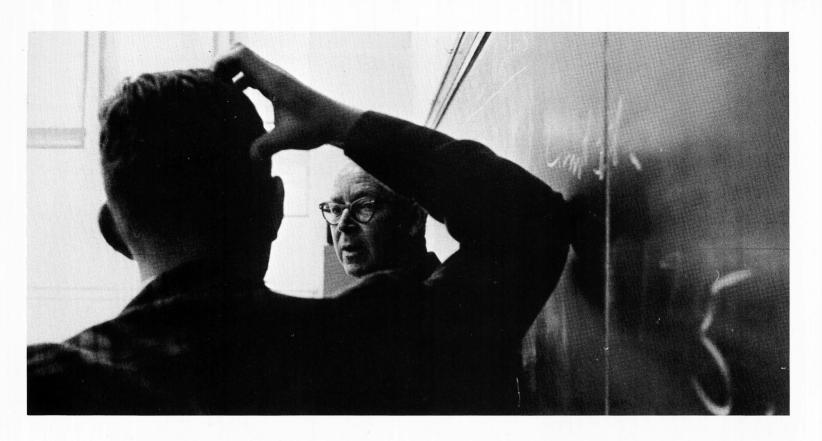

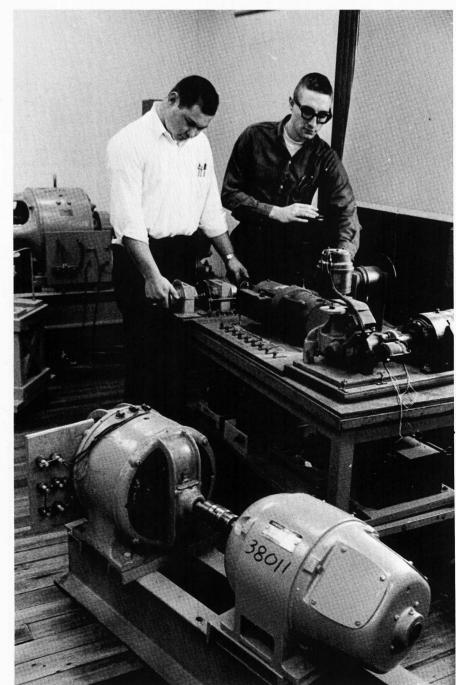

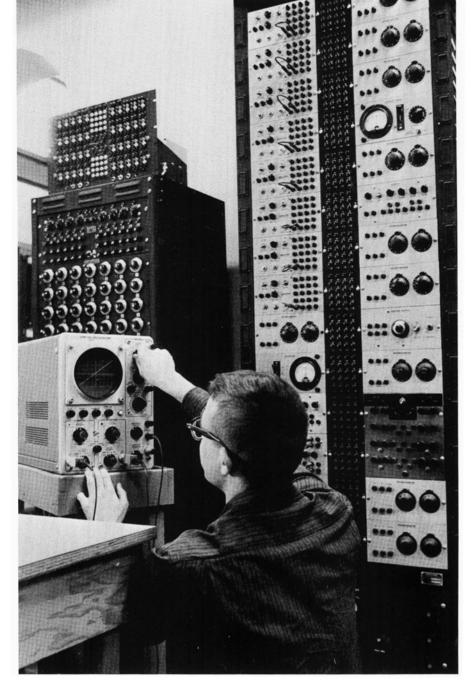

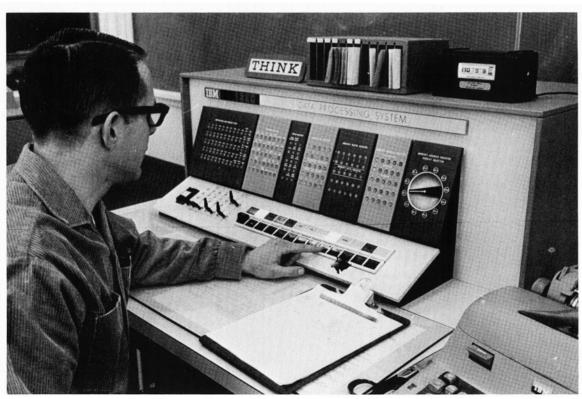

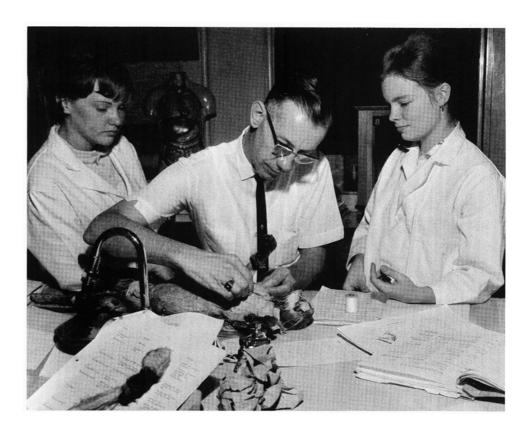

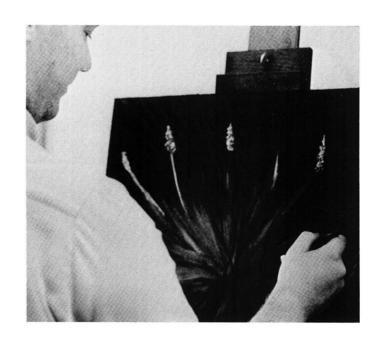

New facilities at ONU are not confined to classroom use. The student is able to benefit from the experiences of working with electronic equipment in the workshop and laboratory.

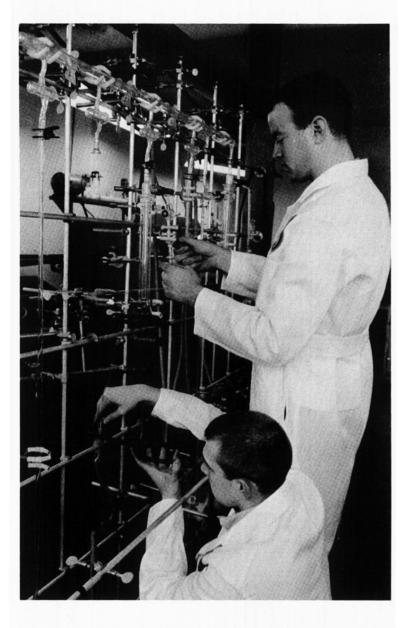

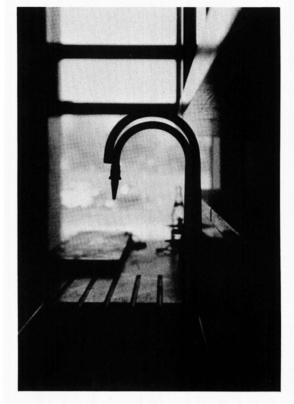

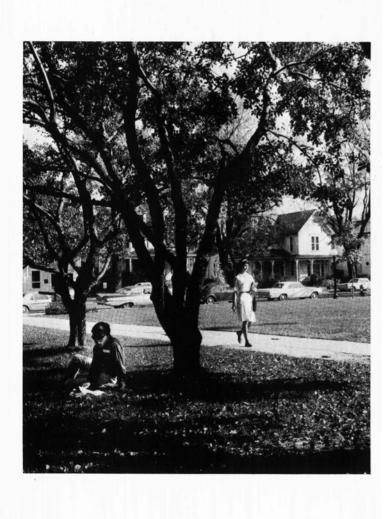

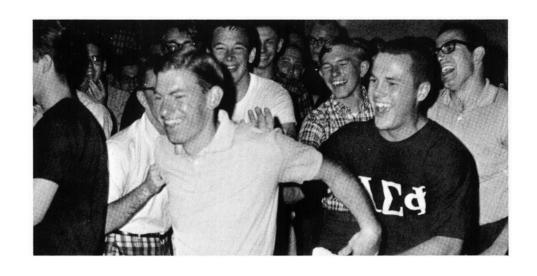

To and from classes, students carry textbooks, notebooks, and their latest assignments, forming the familiar pattern of daily campus activity.

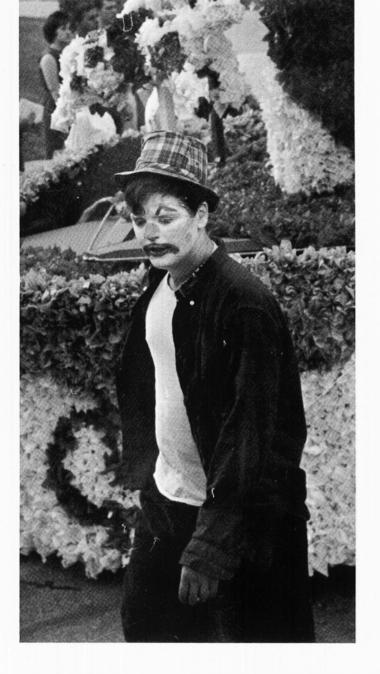

The May Day spirit is one which makes the student wish the academic quarter were over, yet glad to be on campus for the weekend activities. Days of group efforts are climaxed by the announcement of the king, queen and her court, float and sigolympic winners. In the May Day court for 1965 were Marilyn Woodward, freshman; Pat Davis, Queen; Judy Cannon, sophomore; and Sue McMillen, junior.

May Day is a chance to see your girl or guy from home and to be excused from an afternoon of classes. It is the time to spend a night stuffing floats, to suffer from aching feet after walking in the parade, to be a queen or a clown... the last memorable weekend before graduation.

Inspiring Room Contains Visual Christian Ideas

By HARRIETMEIR

If HARKIE! MEIR

From beginning to completion the new Upper Room has been a unique project. The first two suggestions of design made to Chaplain James S. Udy were little church plans. However the purpose of this room is one of meditation and communion. It is not a chapel. Finally last spring a pattern maker from Cincinnti, Ohio, was comissioned to represent Christian cepts in glass and wood.

Over the summer the ideas of the designer were measured to the size and scope of the Upper Room. With the help of Dr. Udy, family, and friends, the objects in the Up-per Room began to take on reality as Christian art.

as Christian art.

One of the f i t tleas to be inaluded was the confrontation of human beings in love. This in symbolic yet real language is the circular arrangement of the room focused toward the communion altar.
The gospel in the world is seen as a suspended wooden globe which is the source of a Glowing cross. "I will make you fishers of men" is

The stained glass window pro s an interesting story. On Oct. the clear window was unfastened and removed. No one noticed the boarded-up spot in the wall until Oct 12 when the old frame returned resplendent in jeweled glass. ed resplendent in jeweled gach piece in that window is a of the whole of the whole glorious effect. Starr emphasized that his work was assistance with the planning phase only. He noted these seven steps as requisites for obtaining financial aid up to 66 2/3 per cent on making such plans, whether used or not:

Codes that are workable cover-ing building, plumbing, housing, and electrical wining. He said these ark minimums required for control purposes.

A comprehensive community plan covering land use, utilities, nd so on.

Regulations covering neighborhood health.

An administrative organization to tie the whole plan together.

obtain federal financial help.

Mytt also emphasized that the entire community must support such a plan, probably thru an appointed citizens advisory committee.

He noted that on land purchases there will be a loss in values after demolition of housing or whatever occupies that property. He said that when property is "resold," the resulting loss would be financed UP to 75 per cent by the federal government.

Starr noted that a plan is good for one year. If the community de-cides after that year to proceed, it must resubmit the urban develop ment plan for government approval.

Starr also noted that his office is working now on proposals for 104 Ohio communities, some of which will ask for federal aid; others planning to "go it alone."

Then The Inevitable Point

By now it is almost common campus knowledge that the editor of this paper was called before Student Senate last week to explain the problems and defend the purposes of this publication. Though this was a new experience for Senate, it was not a new one for the editor. One point that is inevitably brought up at conferences of this nature is the fact that the Northern Review is circulated among alqmni, trustees, and friends as well as students. Another point that comes up with equal inevitability is the fact that the Review calls itself "a student publication of Ohio Northern University." It is easy to see that there is bound to be some con-

The conflict comes when the first of these two points is presented as it always is, with a note of caution about destroying the University

We reason that if the University Image is of such poor construction that lighting it from any bht one angle reveals its flaws, then what we are endangering with destruction is not worth saving.

If there are apathetic students on campus, and there are, then we feel than in all honesty the alumni, friends, and trustees should know about them. We also feel that if there are columnists, writers, and editors on this campus who are concerned about Oxio Northern, the Nation and the world and there are, then the alumni, trustees, and friends might be pleased

We are not ambitious enough to attempt to tamper with the conception of Ohio Northern held by alumni, friends and trustees of this school. We are concerned with the conception most of the students have of this school for, sorry as it is, it is a correct one.

rallying cry "striving for excellence" that offered us new hope hast fall has become a clicke. The practiced student knows that change comes slowly in a university anomunity, so he waits without making accusations and complaints.

Waiting is nothing new to the. Ohio Northern student. He has been ing since the turn of the century for a chance to speak out. For most unfortunately, the change doesn't come until after graduation. This discourt of brainpower harms both the University and the student One subjects itself to constant worry over a vulnerable and fabricated image. The other settles in a rut of comfortable apathy that is likely to

Demonstration Of Our Support

To demonstrate our support €or the cause of hockey at Ohio Northern University, we offered a part of the editorial space in this issue to a statement prepared by members of the Hockey Club. The following para graphs were written by members of the club in an effort to clarify and justify the need for support of hockey on this campus.

At the last campus affairs council meeting the members of that organization refused @ sanction the Ohio Northern Hockey Club with the thought that the club should be given aid through the athletic department. No monye is forthcoming from any source whatsover and the Hockey team now faces the oblivion which it Should have rightly faced seven years ago, when Hazen Deckrosh harbored the dream that this school could supqprt anomer sport;

This year there at least 25 boys who have the desire to compete in intercollegiate competition but more than likely not one of these boys with get his wish because Ohio Northern University is destined to remain a "two sport school." This is a tragedy because as a school like Northern expands, is must accept the responsibility of expanding its athletics, and ONU is not accepting this responsibility. Neither is it providing for boys whose interests lie in Hockey, or to name a few other sports which have recently faded from the scene—wrestling, cross country and soccer.

The athletic department refused aid to these organizations with the argument that they don't even have enough money to maintain the sports that they sanction now. Our representatives spoke with Marv English, head 06 the Athletic Bepartment, and he refuted our arguments with a few of his own. First, he stated that the hockey team doesn't have the essential facilities, He also mentioned that hockey was a sport almost as expensive as football and that it would be unlikely if not impossible for hockey to ever survive on this eampus. We can only answer him by saying that bookey has and can operate effectively on around five hundred dollars, a Which is certainly less than is spent on football each year. Second ly, golf has been quite successful as a sport at Northern without university facilities. At this point if hould be mentioned that sold also had the most impressive record last year under the direction of Stretch Roberson and using the Buffton course to practice.

Rockey has been barely existing on Northern's campus for seven years. The team suffered numerous handicaps to continue their pursuit of the sport. They drove 70 miles to Troy where they could only rent the ice rink between 10 and 12 ab night. They slept six players in a hotel room about one-half the size of a room in Founder's Hall after making the 190-mile journey to Cleveland to play two games for which they had but one substitute. It again might be pointed out that the members, themselves PAY for their own gas, food and lodging.

This year hopes for the 'hockey team seemed considerably brighter, more and better candidates, the certainty of rinks in Bowling Green and Lima within the year, and the possibility of ice on campus. NOW with the rejection of funds from the CAC and the crushing of the possibility of ice on campus, there seems but one hope for the Hockey Club. The hope is that the students of this university who have long voiced support of hockey will now voice this support to their representatives and to the athletic

Rule Of British leads Rhodesia To Present State

By DAVE ROBICHAUX Review Columnist

UDI came to Rhodesia last week UDI came to Rhodesia last week, a surprise for some, hut an expected thing for others Despite British Prime Minister Harold Wilson's pleas for reconciliation and negotiation, this little African country "Unilaterally Declared Independence" from the mother country, Great Britain

To those unfamiliar with the background of Rhodesia, this may seem a blow to British colonialism similar to our own "spirit of '97," However, upon examining the facts a bit more carefully, one discovers quite the contrary.

quite the contrary.

Independent Rhodesia, as its government is now set up, represents the epitome of the British colonialism of several decades ago rather than a step towards freedom. This country is under the control of a white immigrant minority which allows the country's own natives no voice in the government of their country. Rhodesia is a polles state in the yein of the is a police state in the vein of the Republic of South Africa.

Africans make up about ninety-five per cent of the country's pop-ulation and are segregated by legal devices inconeeivible to even the most raeist of Americans. Africans have seperate buses, cannot buy in "white" stores except throusmall back windows, are exclude from all restaurants, and for the most part disfranchised. Only about sixty thousand Africans are permitted to vote.

The Briish, who made so many pleas to the Rhodesian government for reconsiliation, now find they are reaping what they have sown. For it was they who permitted a government such as Rhodesia's to function and operate, and it is only recently that they made any complaints about its injustices.

Britain's threat of military ac-tion against Rhodesia if that coun-try voted for UDI has yet to ma-terialize. The British will find the extremely difficult to fight rebel-lion against their own fellow white citiins In Rhodesia.

Independent Rhodesia will prob-ably find itself on the brink of eco-nomic ruin as many of its markets in Africa and other parts of the world are cut off. The country will also find a rebellion on its hands when the majority of the people erupt in violence against the hated apartheid system.

The United Nations had best make arrangements for refugee facilities for them; they don't rea-lize their days are numbered. If will be a sad thing to watch them lose their homes and businesses, lose their homes and businesses, but they themselves will be re-sponsible. About the only kind of assistance that we can offer them is pity for the fact that they were behind the times and lived in an unreal world.

GrapeResearch Is Revealing Dylan Songs Are . Propaganda By ROBERT A. GRAPE

Dear friends, after my column of Dear Iriends, aster my column of gratefully received advice appeared last week's Review, one ingrate slipped an anonymous letter under my door viciously attacking my devoutly esteemed principles and defending that symbol of lith, draft dodging, and free verse — Bob Dy-ferred to that foul-smelling folk. singer as "a great personality" while accusing me of being one who "forms snap judgments, not wegh-ing both the pros and cons" Now my friends, we know that is an out-

Yes one lie is not enough for this writer. The letter continues, "Def-Initely Bob Dylan is not a socialist, but rather an individualist. A person who doesn't understand the works of this great individual is afrad to face the truth and has no right to criticize. Just because he thinks, talks and acts differently than does the average person, this is no excuse to degrade or dishonor him."

My friends, this poor soul is obviously the victim of Communist propaganda spread under the bon orable guise of Columbia Recording promotion! If one is to look for a model of individualism, I modestly suggest that one look at me.

Subliminal indectripation dear

Subliminal indoctrination, dear friends is an old trick of Commu-

ists and Nazis. But friends, in these times that try men's souls, most of us seem ignorant of the steady stream of propaganda flowing from the pens of Moscow public relations men and out of the mouths of popular singers.

After long nights of listening to Bob Dylan records at 16 rpm I made the shocking discovery that many of the lyries that seem innocent enough at 33 1/3 rpm, are, at 16 rpm, brazen Russian propaganda. (probably a welldisguised Moscow accent) a line such as "Yeah Russian submarine, band slay a few for sian submarine, band slay a few for me" sounds like "Hey, Mr. Tmbou-rine Man, play a tune for me" to the unpracticed ear.

Even though these singing sub versives have multiplied in our land like Pekingese it is not too late. Friends, we can starve them out by following this simple plan. First we must boycott all stores

An amazing statistic is that Northern outgained Bufferion on the ground by an impressive 195-183 yated margin. However, Northern's deepest penetration was to the Bluffton 35 as the result of a fumble recovery and not because of a Northern offensive drive. Dan Yochheim made runs of 23, 32, and 21 in gaining 79 yards in 7 trys while Terry Ackerman picked up 71 yard6 in 11 tries.
The difference was in the passing department where Tuel completed 10 out of 16 passes for 106 yards as compared to Northern's 7 out of 23 for 54 yards.
Outstanding for the Bears on defense were Dennis Jasenzkl, Brad Klingler, and Paul Lawigne.
Blufton garnesed 19 first downs to 9 for the Bears. The game was the final performance of the season for Northern; as they finished with a 64 record.

The Labyrinthian Adventure

In a jungle lush with marble and flowers, he sits mesmerized on his rare soil. There in the city of four million, where the people and not the weather are cold and callous, he bends over his knees and leers vacantly at his earth. He believes he has found the only morsel of ground unmolested by human agony or sorrow. It is almost like the earth one could find in a shaded vale in Vermont or a freshly ploughed field in Montana. He dreams. Now he is walking in that same field; he lays on the puffy earth and feels the peace of absolute solitude with himself. But never will he feel the totality of that dream as a reality. In this city he was predestined to live and die, to inhale arid exhale, and to walk the streets groping for his life's meaning.

If only, when he dies, there will be someone in this swarming city who will kneel at his grave and murmur a good-bye to him. It was always he who placed his hands on a cold, worn slab of granite and whimpered his own goodbye. Many of the times when he crept into the cemetery late at night and crouched in the thick, damp grass of his father's grave, he bowed and cried. Too many times he wanted to dig up that grave and pull the rotting corpse close to his body; he would try to kiss the dusty cheek but it would shatter and blow away. And in his hands he would hold only the pallid white skull. Soon that too would rot, shatter, and be blown high into the smog and stench of the city. Nothing more would remain of his father except his fading memory of him; nobody would remember or care if his father had ever existed.

Except him.

Somewhere, he thinks, somewhere in this madness there is a girl with tears streaking her cheeks. She is huddled against an alley wall down the block, or across the freeway, or on the other side of the river; but SOMEWHERE there really is this girl. And he'll love her. She doesn't know he exists, or thinks, or even feels his own kind of agony, but he still loves her. She is real and yet unreal; the girl lives only in a misty, haunting dream. Never again will he love a girl who is reality.

He returns his thoughts to the cemetery and to his earth. The ground is dark and moist, warm and surrounding . . . like her. He stretches out and lays on his back and feels its softness on him. Then he rolls over and touches his lips to the soil in a kiss. It sticks to his mouth, but rather than wipe it off he licks it off with his dry tongue and swallows it. Soon he is madly scooping handfuls of the dirt and jamming it furiously in his pockets and dumping it down his shirt, groaning and sobbing as he does.

He falls limply to his earth, lays motionless, and heaves quietly from his passion.

A tear falls; it soaks deep into the fluffy earth. Tomorrow the warmth of the sun will turn it to vapor and it will return to the air. But tonight, for one man it is the gnawing consciousness of reality. To the world—it is a drop of water, the necessity of all life. To him—it is his life that fell from his eye and soaked into his earth, only to evaporate and blow away. And inevitably it will, at another time and another place, fall from another eye and soak into another man's earth.

Lightly . . . with his index finger . . . he scratches out the words:

GOODBYE KATHERINE

He rises with his pockets heavy with his earth and walks slowly away from the barren plot.

Moments later a gust of wind rustles the dying leaves, shakes the withering flowers, and blows away the two words—and all that remained of his soul was the smooth . . . unscarred . . . unblemished earth.

Kappa Kappa Psi is the national honorary university band fraternity. It has been on ONU's campus since 1927 and is devoted to the advancement of musicianship. One of the most recent contributions of the Sigma chapter to the instrumental music department was the gift of a professional stereo tape recorder. The brothers would like to thank the students for their support of the annual mum sales at Homecoming and Parents' Day which made the purchase of the tape recorder possible.

On January 27, 1966, thirty-two young women were initiated as charter members from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes to begin the local chapter of the national freshman women's honorary, Alpha Lambda Delta, culminating a year's work by Dean Morton to establish a chapter on ONU's campus.

The society, which was founded May 31, 1924, at the University of Illinois by Dean Maria Leonard and Gladys Pennington, has as its purpose the promotion of intelligent living, high standards, and the encouragement of superior scholastic attainment among the freshmen women in institutions of higher learning.

Membership is restricted to freshmen women who attain a 3.5 grade average for the first two quarters or entire freshman year. It represents not a goal to be attained by means of high scholarship alone, but is a reward for genuine intellectual interest and for conscientious work. Traditional colors are red, gold, and white; the pin is a small candle set with jewels or plain.

Installing officer for the local chapter was Dean Christine Conoway, editor of the society's national magazine, The Flame, and dean of women at Ohio State University. Honorary members initiated and installed were Dean Priscilla R. Morton and Dr. Louise Hastings, faculty advisors.

Projects and activities of the local society include a tutoring service, tea and reception for prospective freshmen members, and the pledging of new members spring quarter. Present officers were elected from members of the sophomore class and included advisors from the junior and senior classes.

The executive, judicial, and legislative boards have worked closely with the head residents and the Dean of Women to attain a greater participation on the part of the standing committees in student government, community service, social standards, and student-faculty relations.

The AWS sponsors many activities during the school year: a tea during fall orientation for all new women students, freshman open house in the early fall, and Glamour's best-dressed college girl contest.

Alpha Omicron Pi colonized and pledged this year, becoming the fourth national sorority at Ohio Northern. This international sorority, which now has seventy-eight chapters, was founded in 1897 at Barnard and College of Columbia University.

Serving as advisors are Mrs. G. Robinson, Mrs. J. Elias, Mrs. L. Weitz, Mrs. W. Woods and Mrs. H. Cotsamire. Our twenty-two pledges on campus are working toward initiation and installation, to take place during the 1966 fall quarter. During pledging the national philanthropy has become our concern, also, encompassing the Frontier Nursing Service, a hospital in Kentucky, and a school to train missionary nurses.

Alpha Xi's, popularly known as "Fuzzies," share in campus activities, sponsoring candidates for Homecoming and May Day, planning fall campus dances, and supporting Campus Chest. Chapter activities include the Alumnae Homecoming Tea, Rose Formal, and Founder's Day Dinner. Mrs. Archie Hillery is our chapter advisor.

As one chapter in a national sorority, our philanthropy is a share in the support of Hull House in Chicago. Also as part of our chapter duties, we were hostesses for the Zeta Province Convention, held March 19, 1966.

Delta Zeta's at Northern belong to the largest national sorority and make up an active chapter of the total 159. The pledges and actives strive to exemplify the ideal college co-ed by maintaining high academic moral and social standards. We are represented on campus through several offices and honor societies, and are proud of our Homecoming Queen and May Day Queen and court. As a chapter we participate in all campus-wide activities, including Homecoming, Campus Chest, and May Day and sponsor our own winter formal, pledge dance, spaghetti dinner, and banquets and parties. We support through our national organization several philanthropies, and maintain one by our own chapter: the support of a Greek child. Mrs. Karl Roider is serving as chapter advisor of the sorority again this year.

The Zeta Tau Alpha national sorority was founded on October 15, 1898, at Longwood College in Farmville, Virginia. The Delta Theta Chapter at Ohio Northern University received its charter on October 9, 1959. Our members participate in campus-wide activities, student government, sports, and professional and honorary organizations.

A weekend workshop at Indian Lake, the pledge dance, Winter Formal, Mother-Daughter Banquet, and Senior Banquet compose the annual Zeta-sponsored activities. The sisters support the Zeta Tau Alpha philanthropy—aid for cerebral palsy victims at the .Cerebral Palsy Clinic in Lima. Mrs. George Hindall and Mrs. Robert Helser are chapter advisors and Miss Rhonda Kerr is the pledge advisor.

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

The Panhellenic Council is the governing body of the four national sororities on campus. It is composed of two delegates from each sorority, their respective advisors, and the Dean of Women. Rushing, pledging and initiation of members are supervised by the Council. The organization also strives to maintain friendly interfraternity relationships, to further scholarship, to cooperate with the college administration, and to act as a forum for discussion of problems affecting sorority life.

The Brothers of Sigma Pi started the year successfully by winning the Home-coming House Decorations. We are also very proud of our Sweetheart, Maxine Overla, who was crowned Homecoming Queen.

As a service to the university we published the Student Directory. We also sponsored a Turkey Trot at Thanksgiving and a Santa Claus at Christmas.

This year we are very proud to have Mrs. Lenora Smith as our Housemother. Professor Richard Kain is remaining as our faculty advisor. We have also added Professor Roger Young and Dr. Lowell Weitz as faculty advisors.

THETA CHI

This past year has been one of continued growth and achievement for Theta Chi. The brotherhood has moved into two houses on South Union Street due to our increased membership.

In February the brothers celebrated the first anniversary as a colony. Social activities included winter and spring formals, several house dances, and Theta-Chi-A-Go-Go.

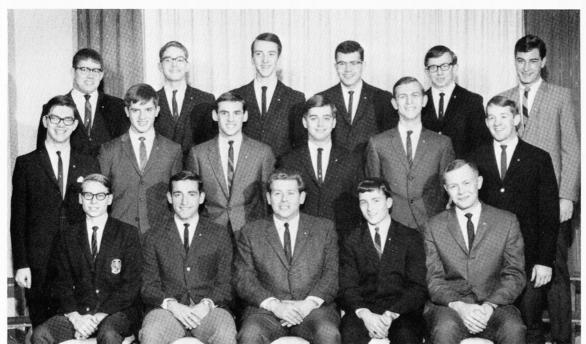

The main goal for this past year was the acquisition of our national charter.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

Seated: Art Vernon, Ken Farst, Ken Derby, David Ake, Stan Lotzoff, Vice-president; Ned Reifschneider, President; Harry Cole, Secretary; Roy Palmer, Treasurer. Standing: Bill Robinson, Gene Gelfand, Richard King, Dave Maue, Frank Neubauer, Rick Banning, Bart Parent, Jeff Katzenmeyer, Bill Carse. A bsent: Joe Robinson.

The Interfraternity Council at Ohio Northern University is an organization created by Greek men to govern themselves in a united and purposeful manner. Cooperation and democracy, the two cardinal principles of the American way of life, are strived for in the Council's discussions and solutions to problems facing all Greek men.

Two members from each of the nine social fraternities, the president, and another appointed representative compose the voting membership of the Council. The Dean of Men is the faculty advisor and aids the Council by giving suggestions and warnings of future problems. Meetings are held in a different fraternity house each week in order to promote further interfraternity relationships. I.F.C. represents approximately forty percent of all men on campus, and therefore is represented as a voting member on Student Senate.

Regulation of rushing and pledging are two of the most important considerations of the I.F.C. The Council is responsible for the sale of rush cards, a fall dance welcoming freshmen to O.N.U., I.F.C. Ball, a booth and an auction item at Campus Chest, and help for disaster victims or others who are in need.

Most important, the Interfraternity Council tries to work for the betterment of O.N.U. by keeping close contact with all university affiliated activities. The men of I.F.C. have an ever-increasing responsibility to themselves, Ohio Northern University, and all students on campus.

DR. HENRY J. MILES

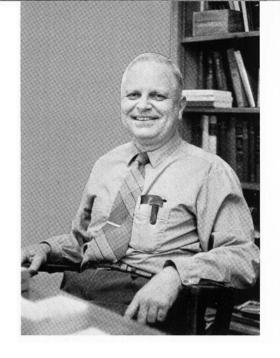

Professor of Civil Engineering

1962-1965

His interest was in teaching rather than research. He added much to his teaching growth at Ohio Northern by drawing upon rich professional experience. Having a Ph.D. in sanitary and hydraulic engineering from Rutgers, he contributed to his field by writing numerous papers.

Both Dr. Miles and his wife were welcome additions to the university and Ada community. He was always favorably received because of his friendliness, working well with students and having a favorable influence upon them. An excellent education and varied cultural interests were brought to the Civil Engineering Department by the Miles family.

He came to us very highly recommended and lived up to it while he was with us, contributing generously of his rich store of information and experience.

The Board of Trustees is the governing body of Ohio Northern University. Its duty is to manage and control the property and business of the University and to determine all policies which affect the welfare of the institution. It has the authority to delegate to the President of the University responsibility for the academic program and other internal affairs of the institution.

The Board consists of forty-two regular members plus trustees emeritus and life members as are elected from time to time. The By-Laws provide for three regular meetings per year plus any special meetings that may be necessary and are called upon proper notice.

Since the inauguration of Dr. Meyer in October, 1965, he has proved himself to be an able leader and worthy successor in the line of Ohio Northern presidents. Admitting that he still has much to learn, he is accepting the challenge of a growing ONU with grace and dedication.

Although the Northern football squad has a disappointing 5-4 record in 1965, the Polar Bears nevertheless provided exciting football for ONU rooters.

Guard Paul Lavigne and halfback Mike Kobilarcsik sparked the team with their brilliant defense and offense. Lavigne operated on both offense and defense. On offense he gained 22 points after touchdown; on defense his guard position was so hard to penetrate that he was voted the year's most valuable player.

Teammate Mike Kobilarcsik finished up his football career at ONU with a fine year that saw him winning the honors for the most yards rushing.

Even against strong and determined opponents, the Polar Bears played the exciting brand of football that brings loyal and vocal support, and Northern fans turned out in record numbers.
